ABOUT THE ACADEMY
Established in 2000, the Alabama Community College Leadership Academy provides a year-long leadership development program for administrators and faculty members desiring to prepare themselves to take advantage of future senior-level management opportunities in two-year colleges. The Academy activities begin with a four-day workshop in residence followed by four 1 and 1/2 day seminars, which meet at host campuses during the year. Participants explore solutions to real world problems faced by college administrators. The Academy features a variety of lectures, seminars, and workshops, and centers on these six curricular themes.

» Foundations of Leadership
» Policy and Governance
» Administration and Finance
» Teaching and Learning
» Student Services and Development
» Leadership for Change

As part of the seminars, Academy participants learn from nationally recognized community college educational leaders, the University of Alabama faculty and administrators, as well as experts in the State of Alabama. The Academy includes local site visits, and participants have opportunities to interact with Alabama community college presidents, state leaders, and members of the Alabama Community College System.

THE PURPOSE OF THE ACADEMY
Two-year colleges play a significant role in postsecondary education by providing access to educational opportunities to all citizens. Community colleges have been very successful in workforce development, preparing students for transfer to four-year institutions, serving students with multiple skill levels, and meeting the special needs of the communities where they are located. A key component of a college’s success is having skilled and competent leadership at the forefront of the institution.

The Alabama Community College Leadership Academy was designed for the express purpose of preparing 21st Century leaders to guide community and technical colleges into the next phase of their development. The Academy provides a unique opportunity for participants to redefine the dimensions of leadership needed to be effective in the 21st Century, interact with colleagues, sharpen their individual leadership skills, collaborate on research projects, and have numerous opportunities for personal and professional growth and development.
